

QUALITY POLICY

For a product or service to thrive it must deliver quality. A fine product or service is its own best selling point.

It is the aim of Newmarket Biomedical Ltd to provide our customers with in-vitro diagnostic medical devices and product support of exceptional quality, which will meet or exceed their expectations. All operations will be maintained in compliance with ISO 13485:2016, all applicable regulatory territory and business requirements.

Continual improvement and effectiveness of our quality systems is essential whilst providing a framework by which quality objectives are established and reviewed.

Suitable infrastructure will be made available and maintained to provide a safe environment for the development of staff and to ensure the sustainability of the business.
